Access, Colors & Approval Rules

1 Who can add meetings, classes and other events

Department Leaders | COO | CEO | Marketing Assistant

Everyone else: follow the approval steps in section 3 and ask the marketing assistant to add your event.

2 What each color means

- Basil — for classes
- Wisteria — for events
- Sage — for any shooting in the office
- Citron — for co-working hours
- Cherry blossom— for recurring office tasks (e.g. cleaning)
- Peacock — for dep. heads/ all-hands meeting

3 Rules: who to approve with

1. Notify everyone involved in the event.

2. Get approval — Events: approve with the Marketing Director.
   Seminars and visits of people to the office: approve with the CEO of Freshman Academy.

3. Ask the marketing assistant to add the event to the calendar once approved. Give a brief description: the seminar's/event's name, how many hours it will take, and the format (in the office or on Zoom).

! Event rescheduled?
Notify everyone involved and reschedule the event in the calendar. Always mention the change in the event title or description.

4 How to add notes when hosting an event

TITLE

Name it clearly

Use "Event type — Host name," e.g. "Freshman SAT — Jedi." Keep it short and searchable.

DESCRIPTION

Add the details

Include location, materials needed, and a point of contact in the description field — not just the title.

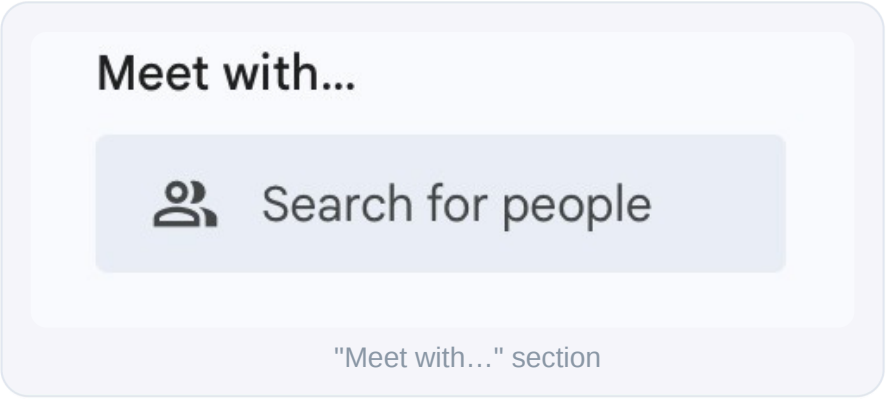

GUESTS

Notify your team

Add relevant teammates as guests so they get notified and can see the event on their own calendars.

5 How to make an appointment through the calendar

1. Search for the person you want to meet by their corporate email in the "Meet with…" section.
2. Check their schedule and make an appointment.
3. Check that the appointment is approved.

"Meet with…" section

CHECK YOUR CORPORATE EMAIL

6 How to create your own booking page

1. Click + in the "Booking pages" section.
2. Add a title.
3. Add the duration — no more than 45 minutes.
